The villas on Playa Barrigona command a hilltop setting overlooking the Pacific Ocean and offer generous living spaces and a relaxing ambience

SUPERB COMFORT
& STUNNING VIEWS

Supremely situated amid 500 acres of privately owned jungle in a remote area of Costa Rica's lush Nicoya Peninsula, the villas on Playa Barrigona are tropical retreats unlike any other. Each of the three homes is nestled on a hilltop overlooking the Pacific Ocean. A secluded white-sand beach is just a short walk away, and the sights and sounds of the jungle envelop the grounds.

THE VILLAS

Custom-fitted with native Costa Rican woods and Spanish and Italian tiles, each residence features a living room with vaulted ceilings, a full kitchen, and multiple verandahs with stunning jungle and ocean vistas. A private swimming pool and barbecue area complete the amenities at each home. The largest of the villas, Casa Guanacaste, encompasses seven bedrooms and eight bathrooms. Casa Barrigona offers two bedrooms and a cottage by the pool, while Casa Dorada includes two bedrooms and a loft.

THE SETTING

Sun-drenched and pristine, the Nicoya Peninsula lies along Costa Rica's northern Pacific coast. The region is known for its white-sand beaches and untouched tropical splendor. Rarely marked on maps, Playa Barrigona is such a haven of solitude and serenity that sea turtles travel thousands of miles across the Pacific each year to lay their eggs on this beach. The nearby villages of Samara and Nosara offer quaint restaurants and shops, but tranquility and privacy are the hallmarks of this stunning estate. Playa Barrigona is easily reached by plane or car. International visitors can arrive into either San José or Liberia airports. From the airport, a drive or a short commuter flight will provide direct access to Carillo or Nosara.

THE LOCATION

Situated in Central America, the country of Costa Rica is a popular destination for international visitors.
